WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(UN)— Agreement has been reached and business is now on the upgrade was given today in a statement by Secretary of Commerce Lamont.

Tonight editors of trade journals predicted favorable developments in agriculture, residential building and the automobile industry, in radio speeches.

"Business," Lamont said, "has ceased the market decline characteristic of a number of earlier months and there are some distinctly encouraging features."

Lamont singled out as the most encouraging aspects the growth of export trade as shown in August statistics, and the "distinct picking up of retail trade in this country."

Precise statistics are not available on retail trade, but preliminary figures, he said, indicate improvement, and "this is more than confirmed by the statements of many representatives not only of department stores
but of other classes of retail stores."

The gain already manifested in more than usually occurs at this season;
moreover the stocks of the retail stores are exceptionally low and it is therefore good reason to believe that their purchases from manufacturers and wholesalers will increase materially."

The August increase in exports, he said, was more than usual at this season, averaging more than 12 1/2 per cent over July, compared with a seven-year average of 5 1/2 for this period, and was shared by most major groups of commodities. Exports of cotton increased $13,000,000, wheat $6,500,000. Exports of raw and manufactured textiles increased 49 per cent, chiefly by reason of the large cotton shipments. Metal manufactures other than machinery, gasoline, motor trucks, passenger cars, tobacco, flour, bacon and tires were other exports which increased in notable quantities, he said.

The various business indicators are "more or less mixed," he said, but in general "it is perfectly clear that business as a whole has ceased its decline."

The trade journal editors, holding a national conference here, called at the White House and various business bureaus of the government.
Various ones reported on the industries they represented in their radio
speeches.

Norman G. Shible said the last three months of the year would show up more favorably in comparison with the 1929 record, with a total output about 15 per cent less. The year's totals will run 40 per cent under 1929, he said. The year has been a poor one, but "the immediate outlook extremely bright," he added.

Paul L. Aldrich said farmers have

Gov. Bibb Graves Pledges Lion's Share Of Fund Proposed by Coosa-Alabama Meet

Rome, Ga., Meeting In- dorses Proposed Water- way to Gulf. Governors, Congressmen Present.

BY GLENN RAMSEY.

ROME, Ga., Sept. 22.—(AP)—The United States government will consider any proposal to develop the Coosa-Alabama river system for navigation with an "open mind," federal representatives told a conference of Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia citizens here Monday.

Throughout the day the conference heard distinguished experts and congressional leaders discuss the plan which calls for a nine-foot channel in the Coosa to its junction with the Alabama and thence via the Mobile river to the gulf.

Under the plan an adequate channel could be provided the year around through the use of additional locks and dams.

Late today Governor Bibb Graves, of Alabama, and representatives of cities in that state benefiting both directly and indirectly from the project should it be completed, pledged their communities to raise the lion's share of a fund of $11,500 to be used by the Mississippi Valley Association in furthering the educational program in the ninth inland waterway district, of which the proposed improvement is
the outstanding problem at the present time.

The broad survey, which was the basis for the conference today, was made under the direction of the Mississippi Valley Association, which is now sponsoring the Coosa-Alabama project.

Of the quota assigned to the various cities and towns along the stream and others indirectly affected, Mobile is to raise $2,500; Atlanta $1,000;
Montgomery and Wetumpka $1,000;
Selma $500; Rome $750; Anniston
$500; Birmingham $2,000; Gadsden
$1,000; Tuscaloosa and Pensacola $500 and other amounts from smaller communities to bring the total to $11,500.

No resolutions were passed nor final action of any kind taken at the conference today, as it was the consensus that nothing could be accomplished through definite moves until the completion of the final survey by federal army engineers, upon whose report the success of the project hinges.

Project Will Cost $40,000,000.
A survey showed the project would cost approximately $40,000,000, which amount the Coosa-Alabama River Improvement Association hopes the government will supply.

The Coosa river is formed here by

TWO U. S. AVIATORS ARE JAILED IN CHILE AS REVOLT FAILS

Fliers Are Charged With Cruising Over Prohibited Territory; Will Be Quizzed on Rebellion.

SANTIAGO DE CHILE, Sept. 22.
(P)—The Chilean minister of the interior, at the request of President Carlos Ibanez, tonight informed the Associated Press that the names of the two American aviators held by Chilean authorities after a revolutionary attempt at the city of Concepcion yesterday were "Edward Orville De Larin" and "Reed Smith
Doyle."

They were flying a tri-motor Fokker.

The two aviators will be tried on the charge of having violated the laws and regulations of the country regarding forbidden air routes and landing places. If a military investigation committee discovers they have had any part in the attempted uprising, they will be subject to court-martial.

Order Prevails.

Carlos Frodden, the minister of the interior, said order prevails throughout Chile, and that the government had found it unnecessary to take general measures. He said the incident at Concepcion was purely local.

To the Associated Press Senor Frodden said the following official account of the revolutionary attempt.

"At two minutes past 4 p. m. yesterday a tri-motored Fokker airplane,
piloted by Edward Orville De Larin and Reed Smith Doyle, landed at a place called Hualpén, near Concepcion."

"The authorities of the province, in view of the fact that the airplane infringed the laws and regulations of the country by flying over a forbidden route and landing place, ordered that the aviators be detained with their airplane pending instructions from the government."

Effort To Incite Army.

"The fact that the airplane landed at the command of the Chilean Marmaduke Grove, of the army, and that General Enrique Bravo, of the civilians, Luis Salas Romero, Carlos Vicuña Fuentes, and Pedro
Leon Ugarte, had addressed the regiment and attempted to influence the soldiers to revolt against their superior officers and against the government."

General Victor Figueroa, the commander of the regiment, ordered their detention. They were taken to military headquarters with Luis Sanchez, who joined them there, and later to the barracks at Hualpén, pending further instructions.

"At dawn today they were taken aboard the destroyer Riveros, anchored off Quirquina Island, near Talcáhano."

"The pilots will be examined for having violated the air laws, and may be subjected to court-martial to ascertain if any part they had in the attempted uprising."

"News from Concepcion and other parts of the country proves that the incident was purely local. It had no repercussions. Order prevails throughout the country, and the government has found it unnecessary to adopt other measures."

Bob Leads as Champ Totters

Atlanta's Bobby Jones Monday took a flying start toward the 1930
American amateur golf championship by leading in the first day's qualifying round with a 69. But while the doughty Atlanta was showing that he is determined to take that fourth title and score his "grand slam," Harrison
"Jimmy" Johnston (shown above to the right of Bob), the defending champion, was having his difficulties. He staggered around to count a dismal 83. That means, according to the figures, that if the champ is to get in the match play that starts Wednesday he must cut his card down into the low 70's in tomorrow's second and final qualifying round, since it is estimated that a 36-hole total of not more than 156 will be necessary to make the grade.

BY ED DANFORTH.

ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 22.—Bobby Jones fired the first volley today in his dramatic assault on the only major golf title he has not won this year.

He exploded a 69, one under par, on the old east course at Merion Cricket Club.

The detonation was a signal to the 167 others who disputed his right to the 1930 national amateur championship, that the royal powder was dry and the royal guns cleaned and oiled.

Bobby shot his 69 in the forenoon of a bright September day. It was at most sultry in the sales of Merion and the 5,000 who scrambled after Bobby were shedding perspiration and coats. But the chief actor wheeled around in better than par without ruffling his temper or dampening his shirts.

It was an easy round for him.
None of those close to him feel that he has left any great effort on the course. His resources were not sapped by the low scoring effort.

He left the course early in company with his father and Chick Ridley,
and planned to take an early hammock in preparation for the 18 holes tomorrow that now remain but a formality.

His 69 today makes him safely within the select 82 beyond extreme accident.
Bobby's card was put on the board before luncheon time and there it blazed in front of the eyes of over half the big field who had not yet plucked in. As the day wore on it remained the low score.

Noyes 70.

Sidney Noyes, a Yale freshman, soon wrote a 70 behind Bob, coming home in a brilliant 32 to do it.

Dr. O. F. Willing, the Portland dentist, also struck over the course to a brilliant 70. And Bobby finds himself closely trailed by youth and age
on the eve of the second qualifying round.

George T. Dunlap, Jr., the Princeton collegian who captured the intercollegiate title earlier in the year, smacked his way to a 71, to be but two strokes back and to let the boys know he was not a flake.

Francis Ouimet, himself a boy wonder at 15 years of age, was close upon with a 73. So were Johnny Goodman, the lad who ousted Bobby last year at

One Killed, Two Hurt When Train Hits Auto

BALL GROUND, Ga., Sept. 22.—
At Main street crossing here Monday a southbound freight train struck an automobile, killing Preston Pierson, and injuring Truman Darby slightly.

The automobile belonged to Darby,
but was being driven by Joe Byers,
who was not injured. H. P. Mc-Collum, standing on a near-by sidewalk, was slightly cut by a piece of shattered glass.

The motor car was destroyed.
Byers was driving about 40 miles per hour.

A funeral was in progress within sight of the accident at the time it occurred. The services were cut short in order that the undertaker might use his hearse as an ambulance to rush
the injured man and his dead companion to Canton, Ga. The hearse was that of the Jones Mercantile Company, of Canton.

AUTO CRASH INJURES SEVEN; 2 MAY DIE.

MOULTRIE, Ga., Sept. 22.—Seven persons were injured, two probably fatally, Monday afternoon when two automobiles collided on a highway
two miles south of here.

The two expected to die are Bryant
Gay, 35, Moultrie; Tom Hall, 50, Berlin. The others injured are Joe Hall, Berlin; E. T. Parker, Andrew Smith,
John Simpson and Miss Thelma Simpson, Hollywood, Fla.

The automobiles crashed head-on near the foot of a hill on a straight stretch of the road. The car in which the Halls were passengers was driven by Gay and was proceeding south,
while the one driven by Parker,
and in which the other three victims were riding, was going north.
Parker asserts that he was on his side of the road and vigorously disclaims any responsibility for the accident.

Joe Hall, the only one of the three men in the Gay party able to make a statement, said he didn't know what caused the collision. The three men and woman from Hollywood were cut by flying glass and severely bruised.
Joe Hall's injuries are not considered dangerous. Gay and Tom Hall are in an unconscious condition at a local hospital.

AINSWORTH SILENT ON CANNON CASE

Bishop Dubose Admits
Advising Accused Prelate To "Sacrifice."

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 22.—
(UN)—Bishop William N. Ainsworth, president of the College of Bishops, Methodist Episcopal church, south, declined today to reveal the nature of new charges against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the church, fired by four Virginia and Maryland pastors.

Bishop Ainsworth said he received the charges in the mail this morning but because of the official nature of the communications he declined to reveal the nature of the alleged "immorality."

"It is an official communication and will not be given to the public by me," he stated.

The "immorality" used in the charges, lodged by Dr. Forrest J.
Pettyman, Baltimore; Dr. J. T. Martin, Richmond; Dr. J. P. Martin, Abingdon, Va.; and Dr. Costen J. Harrell, pastor of the Monumental Methodist church, Richmond, is a stock charge in the church and implies any violation of the church code.

It is assumed the charges will remain unrevealed at least until after the committee of 12 elders to be appointed by Bishop Ainsworth, as chairman, has considered the case and either quashed the allegations or recommended their investigation by the church general conference.

If two-thirds of the jury vote that Bishop Cannon be brought to trial in the general conference, the president, Bishop Ainsworth, must under church rules, suspend him until the next general conference in 1934.

Bishop Ainsworth can wait until

Murderer May Die From Poison Dose

OCCILLA, Ga., Sept. 22.—(P)—
Harry K. Sligh, convicted murderer of Harry Loving in an alleged plot to collect insurance, lay near death Monday night from what an attending physician said was a self-administered dose of poison. He was found guilty at the November term of court here and was given a life sentence.

Sligh was found unconscious in his cell when jail attendants carried him to his cell, officials announced.
He has had occasional lapses into coma since that time, but Dr. C. W.
Willis, who is attending him, said that he has been delirious when aroused.

The nature of the poison which Dr. Willis said Sligh swallowed has not been determined. No explanation as to how the dose was smuggled into the jail has been given, but an investigation is planned.

The verdict of the superior court here was affirmed by the Georgia supreme court and a petition for a rehearing was denied last week.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 22.—

agents today and a "wild cat" brewery, they said, was discovered.

The local office of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon denied knowledge of the ownership.
Frank Carr, 27, was held in the raid, quantities of beer, wine, whisky and gin, the raiders said, were seized.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF MOTHER JAILED

Walter Peed, Who Left
His Parent in Mudhole
To Die, Surrenders.

WAVERLY HALL, Ga., Sept. 22.
(P)—Walter Peed, 35, surrendered
Monday to Harris county officers who had conducted an extensive search for him in connection with the slaying of his mother, Mrs. Ben Peed, 65.

Peed told officers, they said, that he had found his mother in a drunken condition early Sunday night. He said she was lying in a mudhole and that he had left her in the woods after moving her from the mud. He told the officers that he went back to see about her Monday morning and found her dead.

The woman's body was found in a pine thicket about a mile from the Peed home in a secluded mountainous section of the county.

Neighbors had told officers that Peed had said his mother's body would be found near a mudhole. Peed disappeared then, they said.

A coroner's jury today found that Mrs. Peed "came to her death as the result of a blow on the side with a blunt instrument." Physicians said several of the woman's ribs had been fractured.

NYE PERMITS NORRIS TO HECKLE OPPONENT

Grocer Who Filed Against Nebraskan Subjected To Grilling.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, today took over the role of inquisitor before a senate committee and fired questions at George W. Norris, former Broken Bow, Neb., grocer, in an effort to throw further light on the latter's fruitless attempt to oppose him for the senatorial nomination.

tion in the August republican primary. Gaining permission from Senator Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, chairman of the senate's campaign funds investigating committee, to take over the questioning, Senator Norris demanded that the former grocer tell how he could hold himself out as a "candidate in good faith" when he knew that unless the supreme court intervened both would have been eliminated from the race.

The witness, whose petition for a place on the ballot was ruled out by the state supreme court on the ground that it was filed too late, retorted that the assertion that he had "explained" this morning.

"No you didn't explain it this morning—you can't explain it, you were in there to eliminate me," the senator shouted.

The former Broken Bow man had testified in the morning that he had entered the race of his own volition and that he had believed he could force Senator Norris to run as an independent instead of on the republican ballot.

Under questioning by William E. Shumann, of North Platte, his attorney, the former grocer had just testified that the power interests had not contributed anything to his proposed campaign when Senator Norris took over the examination. He brought out that Norris No. 2 had not paid his attorney fees, and invoked the displeasure of Shumann when he asked the witness:

"Didn't you think it was a bit queer that this attorney would come 250 miles, pay his own expenses without any guarantee, without wanting his money?"

Shumann jumped to his feet, "I object, I believe this man is going far out of the record to ridicule me and you should stop him," he shouted to Senator Nye, who waved to Norris to proceed.

"I'm just giving you a taste of your own medicine," the senator countered to Shumann, who added, "I'll take any medicine you can give."

"Well, you're getting it now," the senator flared back.

Continuing his questioning of Norris No. 2, the senator accused him of "hiding out" in leaving Broken Bow and remaining in seclusion for the ensuing few weeks following the filing of his petition for a place on the August ballot.

"Didn't you know they were looking for you in Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming?" he asked. This, Norris No. 2 denied.

Husband Kills Rival In Movie Theater

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(UN)—Moving picture enthusiasts who get a thrill out of those "triangle" domestic entanglements were given a taste of the real thing today when Parker Bowie entered a theater during the showing of "Maybe It's Love" and fired three shots into the body of his wife's companion.

Mrs. Bowie's companion, Sylvester Forwald, is in a critical condition, suffering from three wounds in the abdomen.

Although "Maybe It's Love" was temporarily shut off from the screen the matinee crowd was kept interested by the action which took place after the shooting occurred. Three policemen who were enjoying the show while off duty, rushed forward and seized Bowie. Mrs. Bowie fainted. There was wild excitement in the audience.

Bowie told police he had been pleading with his wife for some time to give up Forwald, a married man who works at the navy yard here. He said he had been trailing Forwald and his wife since 9 o'clock this morning.

When Bowie entered the theater, he sighted Forwald and shouted, "I've got my man," and then opened fire. Forwald, groaning, slumped to the floor. Bowie rushed toward an exit but was stopped by the policemen.

Florida University Offers Fellowship

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The growing interest in the exchange of fellowships between United States and Latin American universities has been reflected further in the offer of the University of Florida to co-operate in this movement.

The failure of Latin American republics to send more students to United States schools, particularly those offering agricultural and other technical courses, was deemed at the inter-American agricultural conference which ended here Saturday.

The conference went on record as favoring greater co-operation along this line, in the exchange of both scholarships and results of research between all American schools.

The University of Florida, located at Gainesville, whose authorities indicated they would welcome an interchange of scholarships with other American universities, was expected to be the object of further study by some of the Latin American agriculturalists, particularly because of the experimental station operated at Gainesville.

S. W. Straus Leaves Fortune to Daughters

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Simon William Straus, banker and financier, bequeathed a large part of an estate of unannounced value to his three daughters, his will, filed today, disclosed.

Mr. Straus' widow was not mentioned in the will because, he made provision for her support some years ago. Charity received $100,000, the institutions to be selected by Mrs. Straus. Cash legacies to grandchildren, sisters and other relatives totaled about $300,000.

Pope Dedicates Radio In Vatican Grounds

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The pope this afternoon formally took over Vatican City's new and powerful radio broadcasting plant.

With words of high praise for Guglielmo Marconi, the wireless wizard who directed its construction, the plant was officially dedicated to the care of Father Gianfranceschi, who became famous as chaplain-scientist on the Noble arctic expedition of 1928.

In formally accepting the completed plant the pontiff congratulated Signor Marconi on his recent election to the presidency of the Italian academy. The new radio station is near by the reproduction of the famous Grotto of Lourdes, one of the show-places in the Vatican gardens.

Greatest Farm Gain Shown by Florida

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Florida was rated among the 1930 leaders in increase in number of farms in figures issued today by the census bureau.

Florida, with a 1930 total of 59,601 farms as against 54,005 in 1920, gained by 10.4 per cent, the numerical increase being 5,596 farms.

She has thus far been surpassed by Arizona, South Dakota and Mississippi in percentage of increase, but her growth in number of farms exceeded a majority of the states, only six of which remain unreported. California is among the states which have not yet been announced.

Verner Enters Race To Oppose Ramspeck

Congressman Robert Ramspeck, renominated in the September 10 democratic primary to succeed himself, Monday drew independent opposition in the announcement of John E. Verner, of Decatur.

Ramspeck carried every one of the five counties of the fifth Georgia district overwhelmingly in the primary, and Saturday was declared the party's nominee in the general election to be held in November.

Verner, in his announcement, stated that Georgia is safe in the democratic column every election, that because of this the republicans do nothing to help the state and likewise the democrats follow suit, knowing that Georgia will do nothing political to force a change in the attitude toward the state.

He declared he is not affiliated with any party, and has not the funds to enter a primary, but that he will offer Georgia anything so long as she remains solidly democratic. On the other hand, the democrats never offer her anything because they believe that she will always trot along in the democratic train like a little yellow dog, no matter how many times she is kicked. The doubtful states always get all the consideration. A 10-year-old child can see the remedy. Put Georgia in the doubtful column. Let's do it by electing a goodly crop of candidates who belong to neither party.

The Stamp of Good Food

A symbol that signifies quality and price

What's in a name? Nothing but the action and conduct that lie behind it and give it special significance. So the simple characters, "A&P," have come to have a place in the speech of most Americans as a symbol for high quality food at low prices.

There is a sound reason for this. Sticking to its policy for nearly three-quarters of a century, A&P has sold the best foods it could buy at prices made possible only by serving many customers with the kind of food they want.

Thus "A&P" has become a hall mark for sterling grades of food at a cost which used to be associated only with poorer grades. A&P customers depend on its trade mark as buyers of silver depend on the stamp. "Sterling," for solid metal.

Maryland G.O.P. Takes Stand for Dry Laws

BALTIMORE, Sept. 22.—(P)—Maryland republicans today at their state convention adopted a dry plank for the campaign ending at the November election, calling the democratic anti-prohibition declaration, adopted last Thursday "a screen for the various short-comings of the present state administration."

Mayor William F. Broening, of Baltimore, the nominee for governor who will oppose Governor Albert C. Ritchie, democratic choice, and the others unopposed for the state ticket, were formally nominated.

"The evils of the old-time saloons are now generally admitted and the republican party is unalterably opposed to its return," said the platform.

In another section it said that "we believe with Washington and Lincoln that the federal constitution is a sacred obligation. The republican party declares its adherence to this great principle and pledges its candid support to a sincere observance of the same."

FEAR OF FOUL PLAY GROWS IN CRATER CASE

MAINE MAY JOIN IN INVESTIGATION OF JURIST'S DISAPPEARANCE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—A New York county grand jury's inquiry into the disappearance of supreme court Justice Joseph F. Crater was augmented today by authorities of Kennebec county, Maine, where the Crater summer home is located. They took steps to determine whether the judge was a victim of foul play in that jurisdiction.

District Attorney Crain, who solicited the aid of County Attorney Southard, of Kennebec county, said Crater may have disappeared, not from New York on August 6, but from Maine on a later date.

"It is possible that Justice Crater went either by automobile or train to Belgrade Lakes and disappeared after reaching there," Crain said. "There are circumstances that make this seem possible."

Asked what crime involving Justice Crater might have been committed in Maine, the district attorney said, "he might have been slain or kidnapped."

United States Attorney Tuttle denied a rumor that the missing jurist had ever been subpoenaed or was being sought for questioning in connection with a federal investigation on the day before he disappeared.

Crain said he intended to ask Mrs. Crater, reported confined by illness and grief to her summer home, for a power of attorney to open a safe deposit box, held jointly by Justice and Mrs. Crater, which he discovered in the vaults of the Empire Safe Deposit Company.

Among today's witnesses before the grand jury was Senator Robert F. Wagner, one-time law associate of the missing justice. He said he was not able to give "much information."

WAGNER GIVES LITTLE INFORMATION.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(P)—United States Senator Robert F. Wagner testified today before a grand jury investigating the disappearance of Supreme Court Justice Joseph Force Crater, but told reporters later he had not been able to give "much information."

"I consider the disappearance as an awful tragedy," he said. "My sympathy goes out to the family."

Senator Wagner was preceded in the grand jury room by John B. Russell, vice president of the Empire State Safe Deposit Company, where District Attorney Thomas C. F. Crain had learned Justice Crater and his wife hold a joint safe deposit box. Crain took steps today to have the box opened.

"I think it is possible the contents of the box may furnish some clue as to the disappearance of Justice Crater," he said.

The district attorney received word today from Frank E. Southard, district attorney of Kennebec county, Maine, that the Kennebec prosecutor expected to confer later in the day with Joseph F. Young, Jr., deputy chief of the Maine state police, who, he believed had some information of value to the New York authorities. The Craters have a summer home at Lakecrest pond, at Belgrade in Kennebec county, and Crain recently suggested to Southard that he might institute an inquiry in Maine.

Prohibition IssueNot National—Fess

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(P)—Preparing to advance the fall campaign at Boston next Saturday, Chairman Fess, of the republican national committee, today expressed the view that prohibition would have to be ignored as a national issue in this election inasmuch as both parties are widely divided on the controversy. "It is silly to talk in this campaign of prohibition as a national issue," he said, "there are wet republicans and dry republicans running for congress. There are wet democrats and dry democrats."

"I think prohibition is a social and economic problem and it should be considered outside of politics. Personally, as a dry, I would welcome a wet issue, but I don't see how it can be done."

Senator Fess will go to Boston Saturday to deliver the keynote address to the Massachusetts republican convention. William M. Butler, former republican national chairman and a dry, has been nominated by the Massachusetts republicans for the senate.

FRENCH COAST GALE BLOWS ITSELF OUT

Nine Lives, Millions in Property Taken by Terrific Storm.

PARIS, Sept. 22.—(AP)—The great storm which blew itself out during the night and gave way today to a spell of cold and rain.

During its three days winds ranging in velocity from 80 to 100 miles per hour brought mourning to the homes of nine fishermen and sailors and did a damage to the coastal country estimated at millions of francs.

The French fishing fleets were the heaviest sufferers from the gale, both as to men and material. Off Concarneau two men were washed overboard from the Coche des Vins and were drowned, and another boat, the Saint Laurent de Groix, foundered, but the crew were saved.

Many other craft were damaged, spectators, forged and raised orders to but were able to make port. There were 17 ships sheltered at Cherbourg roads. Twelve ships sought shelter at Brest, and seven more at Lorient, on the south coast of Brittany.

At Quiberon, southern Brittany, damage done to the harbor was estimated at a million francs. Many seaside resorts in Brittany and Normandy had all their bathhouses demolished and their boardwalks torn up.

Even southeastern France and the sheltered sunny Riviera felt the force of the storm. A violent thunderstorm raged Cannes, flooding cellars and keeping firemen busy for hours pumping out water.

The winds subsided toward midnight, but the seas still ran mountain high.

H. J. Thomas Faces Fake Order Charges

H. J. Thomas, 35, of 644 North Highland avenue, was held under bond of $2,000 Monday by United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith on a warrant charging him with using the mails to defraud.

Thomas, according to postoffice inspectors, forged and raised orders to the Province, Jarrard & Martin Company, Greenville, S. C., manufacturers of cloth stationery, and collected $112 in commissions on the forged orders. Thomas, the inspectors said, actually sold $33.75 worth of goods, but represented to the firm he had made sales of approximately $5,000 to Atlanta firms, on which he claimed commissions of $900.

W. V. Fuller Fails In Suicidal Attempt

W. V. Fuller, 39, of 12 Ridgeway avenue, was reported in a critical condition at Davis-Fischer hospital Monday night as the result of a self-inflicted pistol shot in the left chest, just below the heart. According to neighbors, Fuller, who had been in failing health several months, shot himself at about 4:45 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Relatives said a note left by Fuller for his wife contained a message of farewell and stated he "felt he had to go."

Fuller is a car inspector for the Southern railway and had worked steadily up until Monday, according to relatives, when he announced that he was going to take a day off.

Jury Likely To Probe Grady Affairs Today

Threads of the Grady hospital probe probably will be picked up again today by the Fulton county grand jury, after routine business is disposed of. The jury also will go further into the investigation of a correction in the 1929 state banking act amendment.

Extent of the hospital and legislative probe today depends upon the amount of routine business to be handled, it was said. If the grand jury gets through with the usual indictments in time, a number of witnesses on the more sensational matters will be called, it was said.

Correction of the amendment after the governor had signed it was said to have been made necessary by a clerical error in the engrossing of the bill, two lines having been dropped. The lines were restored to the bill on a formal ruling from the state attorney general, it was said.

Talmadge Praises Foe of Short Selling

Congratulating Secretary of Agriculture Hyde upon his protest against short selling of farm products, principally wheat, on the Chicago Board of Trade, Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture for Georgia, Monday asked the cabinet member to extend his protest to include cotton.

"Speculators have no right to sell that which they do not have," Talmadge said. "It is all right to buy cotton in the future market, but it is another thing to sell short. Such trading depresses the market."

Mr. Talmadge's telegram to Secretary Hyde said:

"I wish to commend your courageous action in protesting short selling American farm products to the Chicago Board of Trade. Investigate short selling American cotton. I will be glad to render any possible assistance."

Margaret Rose Name For British Royal Baby

LONDON, Sept. 22.—(AP)—All Scotland is rejoicing because of the official announcement that the infant daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York is to be christened Margaret Rose.

Ever since the birth, August 21, of the youngest member of the royal family, the Scotch people had been hoping she would receive some name to commemorate her birth in Glamis castle and her mother's Scottish nationality. Of all such names they chiefly hoped for Margaret, since it is intimately entwined with the whole history of Scotland.

The second name, Rose, was wholly unexpected and experts are wracking their brains to discover whether it has ever been borne by a member of the British royal family. The man in the street, however, is content to know that it forms a perfect combination with the first name, Margaret, and that it is being given to the infant as a tribute to the duchess' much-beloved and beautiful sister, Lady Rose Leveson-Gower (pronounced "Loose-Gore").

The little girl will be christened in Buckingham palace early next month and she will then become "Her Royal Highness, Princess Margaret Rose of York."

Margaret of Anjou, who lived between 1430 and 1482, was the most famous Margaret of Scotland. She became the wife of Henry VI, Saint Margaret, who was the wife of Malcolm III, King of Scotland, was canonized several years after her death. Selection of the name for these two women had borne was made for the little princess after long consultations between the duke and duchess, King George and Queen Mary and the Lord and Lady of Strathmore.

Sixty-seven Atlantans are mentioned in the Spectator as prominent patrons of insurance.

BUILDING IN GEORGIA GAINS DURING AUGUST

$167,000 Increase in Contracts Over July Shown in Dodge Report.

A substantial gain for Georgia and the southeast in building contracts for August over July was shown in figures released Monday by the F. W. Dodge Corporation, building reporters.

According to the Dodge compilations, contracts for new buildings let in Georgia during August totaled $4,225,300. This was compared with the corresponding figures for July of $3,558,400.

The state's gain for the 30-day period was relatively larger than that recorded generally over the southeast, in which contracts for the month aggregated $21,321,800. For July the sectional total was reported at $20,514,100.

The Dodge corporation statistics showed an increase for the month in every class of building. Figures for each class of construction reported were: Non-residential buildings, $2,884,600; residential buildings, $820,000; public works and utilities, $550,700.

In Atlanta the August construction contract tallied $848,000, a gain of $148,000 over the July figure of $700,000.

The local figures involved $453,200 for non-residential building; $354,100 for residential building, and $40,700 for public works and utilities.

Totals compiled for the first eight months of 1930 showed Atlanta building contracts to be $16,083,200; for the state the total over the same period was $41,309,200, while the southeast showed an aggregate in contracts of $218,539,500.

Authorities at the Atlanta federal penitentiary denied a report that $100,000 is being invested in a dairy at prison farm No. 2, but did admit that a dairy is under construction. They also denied that any appropriation for a $50,000 dormitory at the farm is available, and referred reporters to Washington for facts concerning just what is being done.

These pressures are for rear tires. In front tires, for easier steering, use a few pounds more air.

The above are a few examples. Our complete schedule includes low pressure for every make of car—come in and see yours.

362,000 people hurt and killed annually in accidents caused by skidding! An incalculable loss in human life—lost time—permanent injuries. Untold added cost in hospital bills, wrecked cars, repairs and liabilities. What a terrific toll to pay when skid-safety costs so little!

Now—with the new General Dual Balloon—every motorist can be safe from skidding. This is skid-safety with a new meaning! True, low air pressure makes the difference.

See the accompanying chart. This tremendously reduced pressure, permitted by Blowout-Proof patented construction, fulfills the highest purpose of pneumatic tires—to be soft—and safe! For softness is the thing that prevents skidding. It has far more to do with sure, safe traction than any tread design.

Make a tire soft enough and you have that greatest of all road-gripping principles—flexibility inside and out that lets the whole tire "give" and cling on any road, regardless of wet, slippery pavements.

That is why the General Dual Balloon—with the world's lowest recommended air pressure—gives you skid-safety you will never know with stiff, unyielding tires.

Let us equip your car now. Be prepared for the greatest security you have ever known in slippery weather. Enjoy, too, the surpassing comfort of the tire that puts a buffer between you and the roughest roads—keeps your car quiet and new thousands of miles longer—makes broken roads and detours endurable and good roads perfect. The Blowout-Proof Dual Balloon challenges any comparison—Blowout-Proof, skid-safe, easy riding that higher pressure tires can never give!

A cycle of George M. Cohan's song successes, including such popular tunes as "Mary's a Grand Old Name," "Give My Regards to Broadway," "Yankee Doodle Boy," and "Over the Top," will be played by an augmented orchestra as the overture to the Paramount-Publix Radio Playhouse to-night over WGST and the Columbia network at 8:15 o'clock.

Other features to be heard at this time are a dramatic presentation entitled "Santa Fe Trail," Jesse Crawford playing "Gypsy Love Song," the musical newswire and a modern dance version of "Kamekiki Ostrow."

We inherit our relatives and we choose our friends, but when other folks's relatives are thrust upon us, as those of the Nels have been thrust on Joe Green all summer, well, that's something else. Nels is one of those fellows who could spend a week-end showing you the family album, and never repeat a relative. Getting down to the business at hand, there's painting to be done, and Joe orders Nels to proceed. He, in turn, suggests another relative for the job, one Mr. Olsson, a painter. Joe knows from experience that no matter how you spell relative the answer is grief. Joe and Vi are off for a little holiday and Nels is left in charge of the painting. On their return, Nels is on the inside looking out and Joe and Vi are on the outside looking in, and there they will be, far, far into the night, pining Mr. Olsson from WGST and Const-toast via Columbia this evening at 8 o'clock in the Graybar Electric Company's "Mr. and Mrs." hour.

Vera Eakin, pianist, will present an unusual number—Neilman's "An Evening in Seville"—which, though typically Spanish, is decidedly of the impressionistic school, over WGST and the Columbia Broadcasting chain during the Columbia Artists' Recital at 2:30 this afternoon. Other soloists on the program will be Audrey Marsh, soprano, and Frank Ruhf, tenor.

That song-singer of the Happy Wonder Bakers Trio, Jack Parker, tenor, will be soloist of the Happy Wonder Bakers Program this evening at 7:30 o'clock through WSB. He will sing a number seldom heard on the air, "Love and the Moon," one of the incidental pieces Jerome Kern wrote for "Rose Briar," which starred Billie Burke several seasons ago, and at the same time produced Booth Tarkington to be as fine a playwright as author.

Temporarily abandoning the nautical role he so well likes to play, Mr. Parker, aided and abetted by Frank Luther and Phil Decker, will give slightly aviator by singing "Without Love" from the airplane musical comedy, "Flying High."

Also an amorous mood is the number listed for Frank Black's "Singing Violins." This group of instrumentalists will play Mr. Black's arrangement of "Venezian Love Song," one of the most popular numbers by one of America's most popular composers, Ethelbert Nevin.

Fast moving, modern dance rhythms from Broadway musical shows and talkies, played by the Coon-Sanders orchestra, will feature the Florsheim Frolic which will be broadcast from WSB and the NBC Chicago studios at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

On account of the manifold advantages of patronizing baker Westinghouse has selected the baking industry as the object of its salute to be heard over WSB and an NBC network tonight at 8 o'clock.

L. J. Schumaker, chairman of the Board of American Bakers, will speak from Atlantic City, where the international conference and exhibition of the baking industry is being held.

The Westinghouse band and the KDKA Little Symphony orchestra under the direction of T. J. Vastine and Victor Sauke will play.

A quartet arrangement of "I Wonder What's Become of Sweet Aida," composed by the NBC vocal trio, Tom, Dick and Harry, features the program which the Pure Oil orchestra under the direction of Wayne King will present from WSB and the Chicago studios of the National Broadcasting Company tonight at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. L. N. Hawkins To Be Buried Today

Services for Mrs. Laura N. Hawkins, 78, of 430 Venable street, Monday morning at her residence after an extended illness, will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Payne Memorial Methodist church by the Rev. L. B. Lynam. Interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

Mrs. Hawkins was born in Atlanta, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Grubbs, pioneer citizens, and had lived here practically all of her life. She was the widow of Captain George W. Hawkins, commander of Company 1 of the 43rd Georgia Regiment in the War Between the States. She was a member of the Payne Memorial Methodist church and of the Alfred Colquhoun chapter of the U. D. C.

Surviving her are three daughters, Mrs. T. B. Rutherford, of Philadelphia, Mrs. Annie Cochran and Mrs. Durand H. Smith; four sons, Joseph F. Hawkins, R. E. Lee Hawkins, George W. Hawkins, of Sylvestre, and Sam Hawkins, 18 grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren.

What the automobile has taught women about household lubrication

Experience with motor cars has taught women that moving parts must be protected against wear by a film of oil. Many of them haven't learned, however, that moving parts of sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, lawn mowers, washers, and other mechanical devices must also be protected against dirt and rust.

3-in-One Oil not only lubricates; it also cleans and protects. It is different from all others, because it is a scientific blend of three high grade oils—animal, mineral, and vegetable. 3-in-One is the oil you should use on mechanical equipment if you want best results.

Don't risk your expensive household devices by using oil that does only half the job. Insist on the old reliable 3-in-One. It costs little more to buy and much less to use. At good stores everywhere, in 15c and 30c sizes. For your protection, look for the trade mark "3-in-One" printed in red on every package.—(adv.)

FOUR KILLED IN BLAST AT TOLEDO FACTORY

Firemen Find Evidence of Still in Boiler Compound Plant.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Four men were killed here early today in a mysterious fire and a series of heavy explosions which shattered the second floor of the Frick building of the Carl J. Weber Manufacturing Company. Authorities said the first explosion came from a still which apparently was used for alcohol cutting.

Three of the bodies found were unidentified. The fourth was identified as that of William Siegel, 29, of Detroit.

Search for additional bodies began at once.

The Weber company is listed as manufacturers of boiler compounds and iron preservatives. When firemen cut the burning plant they said they found evidence of a large distilling layout in the building, including two large stills, two 500-gallon tanks, 300 one-gallon cans and an assortment of copper tanks and tubing.

Identification of the dead is expected to be difficult, owing to the condition of the bodies.

A resident of the vicinity said 20 minutes before the blast he saw a large automobile pull up in front of the factory. Two men went into a rear door, stayed a few minutes and departed.

The building is owned by John A. Freedborn, who said he did not know the names of the tenants as the building was leased by his attorney.

The attorney, William C. Rowe, said a man who gave his name as Carl J. Weber, Cleveland, rented the building the latter part of July for a boiler compound factory.

Man Gets 12 Months For Embezzlement

E. H. Adams, former employee of the Sinclair Refining Company, Monday was given a sentence of 12 months when he entered a plea of guilty to a charge of embezzling $1,064 from the company. The charge was reduced to a misdemeanor when the plea was made. Sentence was passed by Judge C. J. Perryman, of the Toombs circuit, presiding for Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court.

Atlanta Lutherans To Attend Meeting

Lutheran churches of Atlanta will be represented at the seventh biennial convention of the United Lutheran church to be held for eight days at Milwaukee, Wis., beginning October 7, by the Rev. John L. Yost, pastor of the Church of the Redeemer; D. E. Wilson, statistician of the Georgia synod, and C. E. Seng, special representative to the United Brotherhood convention, which is scheduled to precede the church meeting by three days, it was announced Monday.

Among various important questions to be discussed during the legislative sessions of the convention, that of remarriage by the church of divorced persons will take special prominence, inasmuch as it has proved a bone of contention at the last three meetings, the announcement stated.

No announcement was made concerning the time the strike would be called.

Textile Union Votes Virginia Mill Strike

DANVILLE, Va., Sept. 22.—(AP)—Officials of the Danville union of the United Textile Workers of America announced today the vote taken last week favored a strike by union employees of the Riverside and Dan River cotton mills here and that the result of the vote has been ratified by the national union executive committee.

The announcement said 95 per cent of the 4,000 members of the Danville union voted for the strike when the ballots were cast September 17 and 18. Officials declined, however, to give figures.

A statement was issued saying that

Fee for Zoning Petitions Approved by Commission

Measure, If Passed, Will Bring Approximately
$1,000 Year, Its Author Estimates After Indorsement.

Petitioners for changes in Atlanta's zoning ordinances in the future must pay a fee of $10, if council and the mayor approve a resolution passed Monday by the city planning commission, assessing such a fee.

Claude E. Barnwell, member of the commission, offered the resolution, and it received the indorsement of the commission. It will go to council for action at the next meeting of that body, October 6.

In explaining the measure, Mr. Barnwell declared other cities of the nation assess such a fee, varying from $10 to $25 a petition. It was estimated that the measure, if approved, will bring in about $1,000 a year. The commission turned down a petition to change the name of Fair street between Stovall street and Whiteford avenue to Memorial drive. It is expected that council will override the commission, as there is a strong councilmanic sentiment in favor of the change. Mr. Barnwell, W. S. Featherstone and Mrs. J. P. Billups are the members of the special committee to conduct this investigation.

A special committee from the commission was named at the suggestion of Mr. Barnwell to investigate duplications of street names and similarity of such names in the Atlanta area with a view of recommending changes. It is estimated that there are about 1,500 duplications and similarities.

The following parcels were recommended to be rezoned for business: Southeast corner of Mayson avenue and Hardee drive; south side of Fourteenth street from Williams street to Techwood drive, including the southeast corner of Fourteenth and Williams.

Following are petitions to rezone for business, which the commission turned down:

Northwest corner Parkway drive and Currier street; North LaFrance street 430 feet east of Whiteford avenue; 135 feet on the north side of Vand street beginning 175 feet east of North Highland avenue; North View and Highland avenue and Courtney drive; Boulevard drive and Wade avenue.

Wengrow Will Speak At Shearith Israel

Isaac Wengrow, well-known young local attorney, will be the principal speaker at the opening exercises of the Congregation Shearith Israel Sunday school, which was announced Monday. The school will enter its second successful year beginning at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, September 28. Samuel Geffen, student at the Emory School of Law, who acted in the capacity of superintendent last year, will again supervise the school. He will be assisted by a faculty consisting of the Misses Rose Greenberg, Rose Kaledman, Bessie Geffen and Mrs. Annie Markles.

The first Sunday will be occupied with registration of pupils and classification into their respective grades. The program also will include a varied and interesting assembly. In addition to Mr. Wengrow's address, there will be talks on the significance of the present high holidays, which are being celebrated by Jews the world over. These talks will be given by members of the school. Parents and friends have been invited to attend the first assembly, Sunday morning, September 28, at 10 o'clock.

Archives, History Units in New Homes

The Georgia department of archives and history was housed Monday in the Rhodes Memorial Home at 1312 Peachtree street and future activities will be directed from the new home. Miss Ruth Blair, state historian, announced Monday.

The Rhodes home, an imposing Peachtree street structure, was given to the state by the heirs of the late A. C. Rhodes with the provision that it should be used only by the archives and history department.

The historical museum will be open from 3 to 5 o'clock on the first Sunday in each month, and on week days the entire department will be open from 8:30 until 4:30. With Miss Blair at the Rhodes home will be Miss Mildred Ham, Miss Iverson Dews and Miss Elizabeth Shumate.

CARNEGIE ASSOCIATE DIES AT AGE OF 91

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Henry Phipps, retired steel magnate and associate of the late Andrew Carnegie, died today on his estate, Bonnie Brink, Lakewood, Great Neck, L. I. He was 91 years old.

From his boyhood in Pittsburgh Phipps was a friend of Andrew Carnegie and his brother Thomas H., in association with whom in later years he became one of the nation's great ironmasters and the giver of millions of dollars to philanthropic enterprises. Member of a family which produced William Phipps, a colonial governor of Massachusetts, Henry Phipps' early years were typical of his time. He worked in a jewelry store, then sold newspapers, and presently became interested in an iron works, which led to his association with the Carnegies in the Cyclops Iron Mill in Pittsburgh.

He gave millions of dollars to charity and public welfare, notably to the establishment of medical centers in furtherance of the work of Sir William Osler.

Surviving him are his wife, two daughters—Mrs. Frederick Guest and Mrs. Bradley Martin—and three sons, John S., Howard and Henry Carnegie Phipps.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

'Blind' Driver To Pilot Car At Lakewood

Demonstrating the accessibility of the Lakewood park playgrounds, "Par-optic Doc," the Junior Chamber of Commerce's mystery-minded member, Thursday will drive an automobile blindfolded from Five Points to the Lakewood park entrance, it was announced Monday by the Jaycee fair committee.

The Jaycee blindfold ace, who has been practicing his talent in private for several months, will make his first demonstration Thursday at 2 o'clock, following the Junior Chamber luncheon meeting.

According to the announcement, "Par-optic Doc" will allow himself to be publicly blindfolded and inspected before the start from the Five Points signal tower. He will drive alone, without a pilot car and will negotiate all traffic between the starting point and the fair grounds, it was said.

A race against time in the blindfold driving will be staged, with another car, driven by Ed Robertson, Jaycee member, starting from the same point on a trip to the further gate of Piedmont park. Stop-watches will be employed to time the two drivers in order to determine which reaches his destination first.

Only ordinary driving speed will be used by each driver, it was announced, since the exhibition is to demonstrate that the driving time to Piedmont park and Lakewood are practically the same, Lakewood being only slightly over a quarter of a mile further than the "in town" Piedmont park.

Emory Alumni to Pay Tribute to J. F. Allen

A delegation of Emory alumni will unite with friends and relatives this afternoon in tribute to J. Fred Allen, prominent New York banker and former Georgian, whose funeral will be conducted at 2 o'clock at Warrenton, Ga., Mr. Allen's birthplace and former home.

Mr. Allen, who was president of the J. F. Allen Banking Company and a director of many great business organizations, including Coca-Cola International, died in New York Friday of a heart attack. Brief funeral services were held there Monday morning, after which the body was taken to Augusta, whence it will be removed to Warrenton this morning. Mr. Allen was a graduate and one of the leading benefactors of Emory University. In 1924 he organized the Emory Alumni Association of New York and served as its president until his death.

A HOTTER FIRE with the same quality of coal can mean but one thing—better combustion. And Iron Fireman actually creates a fire 500 to 1000 degrees hotter than hand firing. It makes a veritable blast furnace fire through scientifically feeding coal from below under forced draft.

Iron Fireman non-agitated forced underfiring utilizes the smaller sizes of coal which cost far less per ton—and it burns less coal. It cuts fuel bills—drastically. Users' records show fuel savings averaging more than 30 per cent. Automatically controlled, it gives steady, even heat. Reduces labor costs. Prevents smoke. NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Cotton prices made new low records for the season today throughout the entire list with general trading operations the most active experienced in weeks.

The decline was attributed largely to increased hedge selling by the south, which seemed to encourage more general selling by commission houses. The weakness in Wall Street and favorable weather for the growing crop also contributed to the decline, but heavy trade buying offered strong resistance and held the movement of prices within comparatively narrow limits.

The market worked steadily lower, however, throughout the day, new December contracts declined to 10.85, and closing at that figure, a net loss of 13 points while the general market closed steady at 6 to 13 points lower.

The opening was steady at a decline of 3 points to an advance of 1 point and the market was on a down grade practically throughout the entire session despite the steadier Liverpool cables than anticipated.

The south sold quite freely all day, which gave the impression that the heavy movement of cotton from the farms was beginning to be reflected in the hedge selling regardless of the recent evidence of a holding movement by southern farmers and co-operative associations. The active demand from domestic and foreign trade interests offered about the only support but this was insufficient volume to give the market a show of resistance and the decline was very gradual. Some market observers expressed the belief that that price was attractive to the trade and that spinners were coming in for and that the quantity of cotton on declines. October liquidation was again in evidence and new October contracts declined to 10.60, closing at that price, while March sold down to 11.12, closing at 11.13.

Some traders were inclined to anticipate a bearish report on ginning by the census bureau, to be published at 11 o'clock today, and which will compare with 3,515,013 bales last year and 2,500,782 in 1928. Reports were received here from Alabama indicating a reduction in the amounts being advanced to farmers of a cent a pound but this was said to be due to the fact that the cotton coming in was of 13-16 inch rather than 7-8 inch. Liverpool cables that the market there was steady on covering and continental buying and that the cloth inquiry was fair, while yarn sales equalled production. Exports today were 20,700, making 334,648 for this season. Port receipts 72,355. United States port stocks 2,328,282.

SPOTS DECLINE AT NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 22.—(AP)—Cotton dropped to new lows for the season today, the decline being due to considerable hedge selling, and a slight rally after the start, it did not hold and prices resumed the downward trend owing to considerable hedge selling. By the end of the first hour of trading, October contracts were 10.75, December at 10.90 and January at 11.01, or 5 to 7 points under the previous close.

The market seemed to ease off during the morning and into the early afternoon, making new lows for the season with October at 10.69, December at 10.88 and January at 10.97, or 11 points on all months below Saturday's close.

Weakness in stocks and continued hedge selling caused prices to ease off further in the late trading, October dropping to 10.65, December to 10.85 and January to 10.95. The close was steady and at the bottom with the more active months showing net declines of 14 to 15 points.

Port receipts 71,416; for week 111,933; for season 1,783,354; last season 1,337,082. Exports 28,841; for week 71,717; for season 913,029; last season 708,576. Port stock 2,330,550; last year 2,500,782. Combined shipment and stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 58,512; last year 102,274. Spot sales at southern markets 62,433; last year 76,345.

ply in this country, bringing the total to a record high about 202,000,000 bushels. Closing prices were 1-4 to 5-8 of a cent net lower. Corn sagged in sympathy, losing 7-8 to 1-12. Cotton prices were the lowest of the season, closing off 9 to 13 points.

Sentiment in commission house circles was rather bullish and leading brokers counseled caution, although the possibility of a technical rally was emphasized. One of the services which have been bullish on the business outlook revised its opinion to the extent of saying that the recovery probably would be slower and more moderate than had been expected.

Poor Earnings Seen.

Professional operators for the decline were apparently working on the supposition that third-quarter earnings statements, available next month, would be poor, if not the most unfavorable of the year. Selling was again vigorous in the steels, utilities and farm implement shares and losses of 3 to 4 points were numerous as a result of the late pressure. U. S. Steel dipped 1-2 points, its lowest in some time, closing at 100, a net loss of 3-7-8. American Foreign Power, which has important foreign connections, was heavily sold and lost 6 points net. International Telephone, in a similar position, dropped to a new low for the year.

International Harvester also went under in previous minimum yielding 4 points net, while Case tumbled 5-8.

Important stocks such as American Can, American Telephone, du Pont and Westinghouse Electric lost 3 to 4 points.

BECKHAM-PASLEY ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED TODAY

Ceremony To Be Quiet Event At Home of Bride-Elect

Of wide social interest is the announcement made today by Mr. and Mrs. William Early Beckham of the engagement of their daughter, Theodosia, to Douglas Cottingham Pasley, of New York, formerly of Thomaston, Ga., the marriage to be quietly solemnized at an early date at the home of the bride-elect's parents on Inman circle in Ansley Park. Miss Beckham is the older daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Beckham, her sister being Mrs. W. R. Barnett, of Winnsboro, N. C., and her brothers are Robert Beckham, of New York, and William Beckham, of this city.

The lovely bride-to-be is a popular member of Atlanta's younger society and has been greatly missed during the past two years, which she has spent in New York. She is a graduate of Washington Seminary and also attended Oglethorpe University and Sophie Newcomb College in New Orleans. Miss Beckham is a representative of aristocratic American families, the distinguished Byrd family of Virginia, the William Penn family of Pennsylvania, the Phinizy and Head families of Georgia being her forebears on her maternal side.

Bride-Elect's Mother.

The bride-elect's mother was formerly Miss Lucy Head, of Monroe county, and she was considered a belle and beauty during her young ladyhood. She is the daughter of the late George Washington Head, who was numbered among Georgia's leading citizens and prominently identified with the state's early history. Miss Beckham's maternal grandmother was the late Mrs. Carrie Phinizy Head, who was descended from the Stewart family of Revolutionary fame.

On her father's side the bride-to-be enjoys a heritage of equal prominence, her paternal grandparents being the late Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Beckham, of Pike county. These early pioneers were also prominently identified with the early development of Georgia, and were closely related to the well-known Beckham family of Kentucky and Texas, also the Early family of Georgia, the late Governor Early, one of Georgia's first governors, being their relative. Mr. Beckham, the bride-elect's father, is one of Atlanta's well-known citizens, being actively engaged in the realty business, and both he and Mrs. Beckham take an active part in the city's religious, cultural and civic program.

Popular Groom-Elect.

Mr. Pasley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Pasley, of Thomaston, Ga. His father, who is a widely known planter in that section of the state, is the son of William D. Pasley, pioneer settler of Upson county, who is descended from the distinguished Pasley family of South Carolina, whose members were early settlers from England. The groom-elect's mother was formerly Miss Martha Leona Burnette, daughter of the late Martin C. Burnette, of South Carolina, and Mrs. Burnette. Her mother was before her marriage Miss Ann Banks Alexander, of Forsyth, Ga., and both the Alexander and Burnette families are of aristocratic southern lineage.

Charles M. Pasley, Jr., and William T. Pasley are the groom-elect's brothers. The groom-to-be received his education from the Robert E. Lee Institute and Georgia School of Technology, having graduated from the latter school with the class of 1927. While at Tech he was a popular member of the Sigma Nu fraternity and is numbered among the leading alumni of this organization. Mr. Pasley holds the position of assistant manager of the contract department of the National Outdoor Advertising Bureau of New York, where he and his bride will reside after their marriage.

Bride-To-Be Will Be Honored.

Mrs. Bonner Spearman will entertain at a bridge-tee, Saturday afternoon, September 27, at her home on Briarcliff road, in compliment to Miss Lillian LeConte, whose marriage to John Newton Haddock, Jr., will be a social event of October. TARHEELS

North Carolina Boasts Plenty of Good Material—Flashy Backs To Step This Season for Tarheels.

Editor's Note: This is one of a series of articles on Southern Conference football teams written by Ralph McGill after seeing the squad in practice. Another follows tomorrow.

By Ralph McGill.

After a careful scrutiny of the 1930 Tarheel football squad one is able to state positively and without fear of refutation that there is no tar on the heels of any of the boys.

Not a bit. They scamper about too fast for that. There is no tar on the heels of the Tarheels. That old torch song, "It all depends on you," is the popular ballad with the tackles and ends as the boys at whom the song is directed.

Chuck Collins, the head coach who brought those Tarheels along to their present high position, affects a rather lugubrious attitude about his line. He will wag a head with any who will sit around and ask questions.

There is just a lot of backfield material out there on the thick turf of the North Carolina stadium. And there seems to be plenty of linemen but these coaches refuse to believe that a new man can be as good as the one who has just left.

North Carolina has one tried and tested tackle despite the fact that practically the entire line of 1929 put on those black gowns that are the death gowns for football careers.

George Thompson, who wasn't eligible last season, is back weighing 195 pounds and playing left tackle. At the right tackle there is June Underwood, a sophomore. He's 190 pounds on those scales.

The guards, Henry Melver and Ellis Fysal, are playing their second year. They have some excellent sophomore aides as replacements.

The ends find Herb Nelson and Aubrey Parsley on the job. They are reserves from the 1929 team. Both weigh less than the average end, scaling less than 170 pounds each, but they know the job and are in condition.

As tackle reserves there are Harry Hodges, freshman center last season, and Roy McDade, 204 pounds, of the 1929 freshman team.

Reserve Ends Shine.

The end reserves are Erwin Walker, a sophomore who seems to have the call over Sherry Tabb, a letterman from the 1929 varsity, and Theron Brown, a reserve from last season.

And there are others of less ability. The fact that one of the 1929 lettermen has been pushed aside by a sophomore would indicate that the boys aren't so bad. But then coaches at Chapel Hill know what the tackle and ends have to do in this day and time and they are worried. Not seriously, perhaps, but then the old doubt is there.

Ned Lipscomb, a veteran center, returns for play and around him the North Carolinian coaches will be able to wrap a good line. The Tarheels will be another one of the three or four real contenders for the title this season. The line will know enough when it gets to the rough going.

Boast Flashy Backfield.

The backfield is something else. The backfield will assay pure gold as to ability and smarts. The backfield looks as pretty as one of Flo Ziegfeld's picked chorus crowds.

Strud Nash, the captain, has a pair of the most agile legs in south. He can weave and bob as Dempsey never could, he can side-step and twist out of a tackler's grasp with even more wizardry than he had in 1929. He will play half.

And he isn't playing a lone hand. That boy has help. First class, skilled help.

Plenty of Quarterbacks.

While quite a few coaches are worrying along with one fair quarterback and another whom he hopes will develop, North Carolina has three ready and others developing.

Johnny Branch, who was a very prominent thorn in Tech's side last fall, is back. But he may play second fiddle in the Tarheel backfield orchestra. Pete Wyrick, another of those loose-lipped boys, is pushing him close for the job. And Jimmy Moore, who was a sophomore last fall, is also in there with a very definite amount of ability.

Jim Magner, who was another one of those thorns last season, is back again. And just as thorny. He has about everything that Nash has. He and Nash are playing their last year with the Tarheels and they mean to make it the best.

House, Veteran Fullback, Returns.

Henry House, a veteran fullback, is back for another whirl at the opposing lines.

Jimmy Maus is the reserve left halfback with Chuck Erickson, Rip Slosser and Stuart Chandler lying in wait to take up whatever Strud Nash leaves undone. Which won't be much.

In addition to these there are some sophomores who will see some action this fall. The classic shades of North Carolina have attracted some very fine football material.

Tarheels Face Hard Run of Games.

The Tarheels run into Wake Forest, V. P. I. and Maryland and then catch Georgia, Tennessee and Georgia Tech in a row. Which is a very tough row to hoe.

The Tarheels, after losing to Georgia last fall for their only defeat of the year, naturally hope to come back this fall. And they have a chance. The odds will lean slightly in favor of Georgia. But they will not lean nearly as far as the Leaning Tower of Pisa, for instance. They may not lean at all.

Tennessee will also be the favorite when they meet the Tarheels. The Volunteers have more manpower and their ends and tackles are more experienced. The ends will be definitely superior to those of the Tarheels.

Will Be Favored in Tech Game.

The Tarheels will enter the Tech game a favorite. The situation is a very peculiar one. It affords the Tarheels a grand opportunity to kick Georgia and Tennessee. And they will if either of those eleven look down just once.

At the same time Tech will have a chance to upset a tub or so of the grand old pipe by beating the Tarheels. They will be a bit softened up by the time they get to Tech.

The Tarheels will have good kicking. Johnny Branch and Jimmy Maus doing it. The passing can be done by three men, Magner, Maus and Chandler, the latter being no relation to Georgia's back of that name.

The Tarheels will use the Notre Dame system, modified. Collins sets his backs in the formation. They do not step to them. The attack will be balanced and strong.

North Carolina, if the tough trio is passed successfully, should go undefeated. They will drop about one of the three. Much depends on the defensive ability of the new line.

ROUT OF PHILS ABOUT CLINCHES FLAG FOR CARDS

Cubs Battle Grimly, But Only Baseball Miracle Can Close Margin.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 22.—(P)—Pounding the ball hard, the St. Louis Cardinals moved a little nearer the National league pennant today with a 15-7 victory over Philadelphia.

The victory still left the Cards out in front by two and one-half games as the Cubs also won.

Beginning a heavy barrage in the second inning, the Cards hammered four pitchers to pile up 19 hits, including eight doubles. Mancuso collected four hits while Bottomley and Watkins connected for three each.

St. Louis started its scoring rampage in the second, counting four times in each of the second and third innings, adding two more in the fourth and three in the fifth. The final two runs crossed the plate in the seventh inning.

After holding the Phillies to four hits in six innings, Sylvester Johnson weakened a trifle in the seventh and eighth as the Phils gathered in five runs. The Cardinals' lead was never seriously threatened but Herman Bell pitched the ninth and held the Phillies in check.

PHILS GET JUMP.

The Phillies got the jump on the Cards, scoring one run in the initial inning on successive singles by Brickell and Thompson and Friberg's sacrifice fly. Brickell crossing the plate for the run. Willoughby set the Cards down in order in their first appearance at the plate.

The Cardinals found the range in their half of the second and scored four runs on five hits, driving Willoughby to the showers. Collard took up the mound duties for the Phils. Included in the five hits were doubles by Bottomley and Douthett and singles by Hefey, Watkins and Mancuso and in addition Willoughby handed out two bases on balls.

The Phillies scored their second run in their half of the second on Whitney's double and Theron's single.

FOUR RUNS.

Three doubles, one each by Watkins, Hefey and Johnson, preceded by a base on balls and intermingled with Mancuso's Texas leaguer sent four more runs across the plate for the Cards in the first half of the third.

The Phillies went scoreless in the third but the Cards in the fourth ran their total up to 10 with two more runs. Mancuso's double driving in Frisch, who had singled, and Hefey, who got on through a fielder's choice.

Continuing on their hitting and scoring rampage, the Cards got together Bottomley's single, Adams' double, Frisch's sacrifice fly, an error and a stolen base to score three more runs in the fifth. They were scoreless in the sixth but counted twice more in the seventh as Adams singled, Frisch doubled, Hefey walked and Watkins singled to score Frisch.

After going hitless through four innings, the Phillies finally got to Johnson in the seventh, bunting him out. The Cards then scored twice in the eighth and ninth on singles by Bottomley and Douthett and a double by Whitney and a double by Hurst. Bell pitched for the Cards in the ninth and held the Phils to one hit.

Old-Timers Hear What the New-Comers Think About It

Auburn's new coaches were visitors to Atlanta Sunday for the Southern football coaches and officials' meeting at the Atlanta Athletic club. They were caught in an informal conversation on the roof of the club Sunday afternoon. MEVER IS LOST TO VOL SQUAD, NEYLAND SAYS

Old Knee Injury Hurt in Scrimmage Prevents Star From Playing.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 22.—(P)—Engine McEver, famous half-back of the University of Tennessee football team for the past two years, member of the famous "Huck and Mack" combination that struck terror into the hearts of more than one opposing eleven, will not play under the Orange and White banner this year.

McEver, in scrimmage play this afternoon at Shields-Watkins field, again injured the knee that was twisted in a baseball game during the summer. Careful examination developed the fact that the member will not respond to treatment. Major Neyland, varsity coach said, "and McEver will lay off for the season of 1930 in order that his eligibility will be unquestioned when he returns to the squad in 1931."

The loss of McEver delivers a strong blow at the offensive powers

Auburn To Cheer Early and Often!

AUBURN, Ala., Sept. 22.—Charles DeWitt (Bull) Stier, Birmingham, and George Calaway, Montgomery, were elected assistant cheer leaders at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute for the 1930-31 term. Stier is a junior and Calaway a freshman.

The election of the two popular students to assist Cheer Leader H. M. Davis was held after the first mass meeting of the year in historic Langdon hall.

They, however, had been fearful that the grind of a football campaign would be too much for Mac's knee and have been building the backfield with this probable loss in view. At the present moment the combination will come from Hackman, Disney, Decker and Heydrick.

MIKE McTIGUE LOSES.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 22.—(P)—Garfield Johnson, 178, Buffalo negro light-heavyweight, was awarded a technical knockout over Old Mike McTigue, 180, former world's light-heavyweight champion, in the fourth round of a 10-round bout here tonight. McTigue failed to land a blow and the fight was stopped to save him needless punishment.

KICK-OFF DRILL MONDAY LESSON AT TECH FLATS

Coaches Teach Men How To Spend Time During First 30 Seconds.

By Herb Clark.

"Get that ball into play—and get it in right!" was the subject of Monday's lecture, No. 19 of a series, delivered to the Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech at the Rose Bowl field Monday afternoon. The talk was accompanied by a practical demonstration.

Which is just another way of saying that the Jackets took their first intensive drill on the kick-off to open their fourth week of practice. They had gone into Saturday's "game" knowing what to do, in theory at any rate, during all but the first 30 seconds of a game. They came out deciding that they knew less than they had imagined, and that they knew very, very little of those opening

MERION, Pa., Sept. 22.—If you do not think Tom Thumb golf has become a sport sufficient unto itself and with a pride of class, you should have heard a couple of moonlight golfers in the Jones gallery today talking their stuff.

Bobby had just banged a great drive on No. 2 when one miniature golfer said to his friend: "Say, you know I think I'll take up the long game myself. It looks like a lot of fun."

When farther along on the green Bobby missed holing a 20-foot putt for a birdie by a whole inch, the first premature golfer sourly commented to his partner, "Look at that. That's where we'll have it on these birds when we go in for the long game. We can putt and they can't."

Down at the tenth Bobby sank a curling 10-footer for a birdie three and the crowd cheered. The first after-dinner golfer observed scornfully, "Oh, it ain't so hard. Look at 'em; they don't have to putt through no sewer pipes or make their ball jump no hurdles. I tell you we'd have this long game in our pockets in no time. The shots on the green count as much as the long ones in the fairway and I notice these birds don't make holes-in-one so often."

It is with no little impatience that one waits for these miniature golfers to take up the long game and break up the next national amateur.

"CANNONBALL" UPSETS DOPE.

Your correspondent has had some luck in the past in guessing what football teams were going to do on a given day, but he never has been so hot at estimating the ability of probable performance of individual players.

He could guess at them in lump form but in analyzing the component grains of a gridiron unit he always has been weak.

This is rubbed in by the performance of Clyde (Cannonball) Crabtree, formerly of the Florida 'Gators, as a professional football player. If ever there was one lad I would have guessed would be a bust as a professional, Clyde was he.

He always seemed to play too rattle-brained a game as a collegian ever to get far with the pros. He was forever taking too many chances and doubling back on his own trail too often.

But he is the big star this year with the Frankford Yellow Jackets, the best pro outfit in these parts. They played a game Sunday to open the season and "Rabbit" as they call Crabtree here, ran wild.

Crabtree took a forward pass on his own 25-yard line in the first five minutes of the game, dodged the first two tacklers, danced around until his interference formed and then sprinted 75 yards for a touchdown.

It was hailed as one of the finest bits of work ever seen here.

Note also that the professionals forward pass in their own territory any time they choose, the daredevils.

Crabtree then passed to an end for the extra point on a fake running play. Later he took another pass for a gain of 20 yards and made several gains from scrimmage.

It was an exceptionally rough game, too. Twelve men were taken out with injuries, one with a broken arm.

Any who have thought Little Clyde was just a flashy runner, who had a deal of luck in his career at Florida, should change that opinion. He is bound to be real good.

CLYDE HAS 'GATOR MATES.

Playing on the same team with Clyde are Dale Van Sichel, the great end who has been made into a guard, and Big Royce Goodbread, who is playing left halfback.

UNCLE ROBBY FEELS SO BAD!

Chip Roberts, president of the Crackers received a characteristic telegram from your Uncle Wilbert Robinson yesterday. The wire was Uncle Robby's swan song in giving up the pen-nant race.

It expressed an invitation to come over for one of the final games and concluded with an exclamation too racy for this home newspaper.

Uncle Robby had planned to entertain the entire Cracker directorate at the world's series and was sorely disappointed in losing out.

PETREL SQUAD ENTERS FINAL DRILL PERIOD

Easy Practices Face Oglethorpe Gridmen During Last Week.

By Jack Troy.

Oglethorpe Petrels entered the final week of preparations for the Georgia game in high spirits Monday afternoon. Perfection of plays and formations in signal practice and dummy scrimmage were the main items on which Coach Harry Robertson concentrated.

Captain Claud Herrin, out Saturday, was back in uniform, but was not able to take much part in the drill. His place in signal practice was taken by Jenny Woodard, senior halfback, with Frank Anderson, Jr., calling signals.

Only one other member of the varsity squad is on the injured list, Spud Kratz, senior center, having a cut hand, which is expected to be well by Saturday.

The kickers practiced punting, with the booting of Anderson and Walker standing out. The Petrels seem to stand a chance of gaining some ground on exchange of punts, all kickers looking good now. Spert also showed good form in a place-kicking practice.

What passing was done during the afternoon was handled by Anderson and Walker, both efficient passers. They found able receivers in Dapper Myers, Woodard and Spert.

It is hardly likely that the squad will scrimmage much this week.

PANTHERS SLUG HARD TO CINCH ANNUAL SERIES

Memphis Gets Away to Lead But Fails To Hold Margin.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 22.

(P)—Fort Worth won the baseball championship of the south today, defeating Memphis, 13 to 6, for its fourth win in five games in the 11th annual Dixie series between pennant winners in the Texas league and Southern Association.

It was the ninth time the Texas leaguers had bested the Southern association representatives and sixth win for a Fort Worth team.

The Cats won the first three games of the proposed seven-game series and dropped the fourth yesterday to the Chicks.

Today's game was a free-for-all hitting contest from the go, when each team scored twice in the first inning.

CONFERENCE'S FIRST.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 22.—N. C. State's opening grid game with High Point was the first night football game played this season by any Southern conference team.

YOUR correspondent has had some luck in the past in guessing what football teams were going to do on a given day, but he never has been so hot at estimating the ability of probable performance of individual players.

He could guess at them in lump form but in analyzing the component grains of a gridiron unit he always has been weak.

This is rubbed in by the performance of Clyde (Cannonball) Crabtree, formerly of the Florida 'Gators, as a professional football player. If ever there was one lad I would have guessed would be a bust as a professional, Clyde was he.

He always seemed to play too rattle-brained a game as a collegian ever to get far with the pros. He was forever taking too many chances and doubling back on his own trail too often.

But he is the big star this year with the Frankford Yellow Jackets, the best pro outfit in these parts. They played a game Sunday to open the season and "Rabbit" as they call Crabtree here, ran wild.

Crabtree took a forward pass on his own 25-yard line in the first five minutes of the game, dodged the first two tacklers, danced around until his interference formed and then sprinted 75 yards for a touchdown.

It was hailed as one of the finest bits of work ever seen here.

Note also that the professionals forward pass in their own territory any time they choose, the daredevils.

Crabtree then passed to an end for the extra point on a fake running play. Later he took another pass for a gain of 20 yards and made several gains from scrimmage.

It was an exceptionally rough game, too. Twelve men were taken out with injuries, one with a broken arm.

Any who have thought Little Clyde was just a flashy runner, who had a deal of luck in his career at Florida, should change that opinion. He is bound to be real good.

CLYDE HAS 'GATOR MATES.

Playing on the same team with Clyde are Dale Van Sichel, the great end who has been made into a guard, and Big Royce Goodbread, who is playing left halfback.

UNCLE ROBBY FEELS SO BAD!

Chip Roberts, president of the Crackers received a characteristic telegram from your Uncle Wilbert Robinson yesterday. The wire was Uncle Robby's swan song in giving up the pen-nant race.

It expressed an invitation to come over for one of the final games and concluded with an exclamation too racy for this home newspaper.

Uncle Robby had planned to entertain the entire Cracker directorate at the world's series and was sorely disappointed in losing out.

Stribling Begins Two Weeks Work At Maxwell Field

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 22.—(P)—W. L. Stribling, fighter by profession and aviator by avocation, today began two weeks' training in behalf of his second love.

The Georgia heavyweight contender was on the line bright and early at Maxwell Field, government airport, this morning for the first lesson of the training period in military science and aerial warfare.

Stribling won his wings in 1927 after passing the examinations at Maxwell Field and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the air corps reserves. His previous active duty training tours have been at the airport here.

Today's program called for ground work and the fundamentals of piloting a plane. The latter was routine, however, for Stribling spends a great part of his time flying his own ship to the scenes of his battles from his home at Macon, Ga. He flew his ship here yesterday from Macon.

Following today's lessons Stribling planned to fly to Selma this afternoon for the third game between Selma, Southeastern league champions, and Greenville, South Atlantic league winners, for the class "B" championship of Dixie.

Freeman Returns To Arkansas Home

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Sept. 22.—(P)—Tommy Freeman, world's welterweight boxing champion, returned to his home today to be met by a brass band, the key to the city and a young lady named Shirley Ann, eight months old, who likes her daddy with or without championship trimmings.

Freeman, better known by the home folk as the "Bear Mountain Kid," came back in the role of conquering hero, the result of lifting the crown from the head of Young Jack Thompson, negro defender, in his recent Cleveland ring battle.

It was strictly a hometown affair—much more so than in other similar cases, because Freeman used to battle around here at the age of 14, under the tutelage of his fireman uncle, Bob Sangster. Since then Hot Springs has taken a personal interest in the "kid's" fistie education.

SON OF THE GODS

By REX BEACH

LAST INSTALLMENT.

Chinatown, always late in closing its eyes, was asleep when Sam Lee ceased pacing the walks of his garden and stared down into the empty canyons beneath him. Dawn was not far away. So, he was a white man! Lee Ying's virtuous acts had lived after him, his dead hand had reached forth from the grave and unveiled the truth. This night had marked an epoch in Sam's life and yet the significance of it failed to stir him as it should: there was something anticlimactic about it and the disclosure which should have stirred him to the bottom of his being left him almost unmoved. That was, no doubt, because he had spent his whole life anticipating something of this very sort. What did provoke a genuine tumult in his soul, of course, was the result of that disclosure. There indeed was something stunning, something overpowering and he wondered if it, too, might not be the work of that beneficent spirit which looked after him. Lee Ying, the man of many mercuries, the door of 1,300 kindly deeds. Was this his final sacrifice? . . . Much luck, great riches and high honor were what Sam's auguries had foretold and they had come true, but in reality, all those blessings had flowed directly from Lee Ying's hand. He, Sam, had done nothing to warrant them, he had not even proved himself worthy to receive them.

He was glad to know that he was white, nevertheless an odd resentment smoldered in the back of his mind; it offended him to gain stature through that fact alone. In what way was he better now than he had been at sundown? Yesterday he was the son of a gentle, a noble, a charitable and a godly man, today he was a guttersnipe, and yet he had attained caste. His honors had multiplied. His princess had opened her arms. Lee Ying's blood was not his, in him ran the blood of some drunken zoutabout, perhaps, or some furtive jackal of the slums. The mother who had borne him was not Fan Yi, of blessed memory, but for all he knew, an unwed woman of the streets. In that he must take pride. Great credit now attached to him. Chinese gods appreciate humor; doubtless they were smiling broadly. During these several hours he had been saying farewell to Chinatown, to this high-perched home and all its duties, for with the coming of sunrise a new life for him would dawn and he realized that henceforth he would be as much out of place here as he had been elsewhere. It had been a sad, a wistful parting; it had meant the tearing up of tender roots—until now. As he had walked here under the stars he had been aware of a tall, familiar figure at his side; it had moved step by step with him. Their souls had met.

How high Lee Ying towered over other men. What other son had known a father such as he? . . . Father? No. His father was a shadow, a nameless, formless, fanciful creation in the mind of a man named Dunne. . . . Who was the wisest, the more to be trusted, Lee Ying or that policeman? Which of these gods? . . . Truth! Where shall one search for it, in the mind or in the heart? In which of those two men should he rest his faith?

Sam entered his house and went on into his own chamber. Slowly, meditatively, he disrobed and purified himself; then he put on his ceremonial Chinese robe, his cap with the ruby button, his white hose and silk slippers. On silent feet he moved to the door of that shrine where Lee Ying had bent in worship to his gods. He slid the panel back, stepped inside and closed it behind him. The enigmatic image stared at him from fixed, inscrutable eyes.

He lit the joss sticks and watched the thin blue lines of fragrant smoke arise, then he knelt before the golden tablet on the wall and bowed his head.

When he spoke it was in the slangy language he had learned at the knees of Fan Yi:

"Oh, Benevolent One to whom I owe all joy and happiness, and whose virtues I revere, my prayers float Heavenward to you. In this still hour of the dawn your unworthy son is beset by loneliness and yearning, his love and his longing beat him to the ground. He gropes in darkness, the path is blind, the forest is black and demons of doubt infest it. Make him to know the permanence and the reality of truth. Glue to him as he clings to you."

"You have resigned your earthly dignities and you walk clear-eyed beside the bright waters of Celestial streams, all wisdom and understanding is yours. Pause, I beseech you, and plant deep in my heart the roots of faith in the reality and the eternity of our oneness. Out of nothing you created me, you clad me from your bounty: I paid you back in grief and disappointment but my soul is sick and it calls you. A pearl is but a temple built by pain around a grain of sand; around the jewel of your love for me I pledge myself to build a stately monument to my enduring trust in you."

(The End.)

Who Shot Colonel Protheroe?

Was it Lawrence Redding, artist and romance hunter?

Was it Anne, the victim's wife?

Was it Hawes, the seemingly gentle little curate?

It's up to you to figure it out. All three confess. There are half a dozen motives. It could have been any one of the three. But why do they all insist upon shouldering the blame?

As the jailer opened the cell door, Tarzan saw that its only occupant was Maximus Praeclearus. "I see our friends have won their freedom," said Tarzan. "So did you," said the jailer with a grin, "but are you free? Your friends are chained in other cells. Caesar accuses them of sedition."

The jailer closed the door and locked it, leaving Tarzan and Praeclearus alone. "The gods are unkind," said the Roman. "Even my best friend, Appius Appolous, has failed me. If he had fetched the keys, we could now escape." "Perhaps we will in any event," said Tarzan. "Caesar does not yet know Tarzan of the Apes."

Darkness had enveloped the city, blotting out the dim light of the dungeon, when the two men perceived a wavering light in the corridor. The light increased and they knew that someone was approaching, lighting his way with a flaming torch. At night the silent approach of a single torch might more surely augur ill than well.

As the visitor fitted the key into the lock, Praeclearus recognized him by the flare of the torch through the bars. It was Appius Appolous. Trembling, he reported that Caesar's suspicions had been aroused. He had been constantly shadowed and sent on outpost duty. But he had escaped and had now come to his friend with the prison keys.
